Cinderella: (smile and talk to the audiences) He loves the present very much.

Potter: I sent you a present yesterday. Have you received it?

Cinderella: What? You’ve already sent me a present? You’re so kind. Thank you. Wait a minute, please.

(look at her cat) Where’s my present, Mimi?

Cat: (give Cinderella the present--- a storybook called Cinderella) Here you are.

Cinderella: Thanks for your present, Potter. Would you like to go to Disneyland with me this Sunday?

Potter: I’m afraid not. My aunt is going to get married this Sunday. I need to go to her wedding ceremony.

Cinderella: It’s alright. (feel disappointed)

Potter: Maybe we can go there next week.

Cinderella: Great!

Potter: I’m busy now. I’ll call you later. Bye. (put down the phone and look at Bob) Hey Bob, we need to leave now. We have a lot of preparation work to do. Hurry up.

Cat: (look at the book) I think you’ve made a mistake.

Cinderella: What? How do you know?

Cat: My mum told me this story when I was a kitten. Once upon a time, there was a silly girl called Cinderella. She was tortured by her stepmother and stepsisters and had a poor life.

This book is about this poor little girl.

Cinderella: Really? (feel sad) Thanks for telling me, Mimi.

Cat: Don’t be sad, my dear. You have the same name, but you have different characters.

Cinderella: Really?

Cat: Of course. And you’re more beautiful than her.

Cinderella: Really? (feel happy) You’re my best friend, Mimi. (kiss Mimi’s head)

Father: (knock on the door) Honey, may I come in?

Cinderella: (put down the book) Okay.

Father: (open the door) What are you doing now?

Cinderella: I’m playing with Mimi.

Father: I see. Cinderella, I have a present for you.

Cinderella: Really? What’s that?
